In article <jfhCFHLCA.EBG@netcom.com> jfh@netcom.com (Jack Hamilton) writes:
>Does anyone have a list of countries which honor CEPT licenses?

 According to my U.K. No-Code (Gasp! Horror!) licence document, the following countries have now "Implemented CEPT recommendation T/R 61-01". That is the Brit Radiocommunications Agency wording.

 In the order they appear on my licence:
Austria, Belgium, Switzerland, Germany, Denmark, Spain, France,
Liechtenstein, Greece, Hungary, Italy, Ireland (Eire), Luxembourg,
Monaco, Norway, Netherlands (Holland), Sweden, Finland, Czechoslovakia
(Note: now 2 countries), New Zealand.

 The order appears not to be alphabetical because they are listed by the international country abbreviations, so Switzerland is
"CH" etc.

Isn't it wonderful, I can use my no-code British call in all those countries.
